THOUGHTS ON ART, PHILOSOPHY, AND RELIGION.BEING SELECTIONS FROM THE UNPUBLISHED PAPERS OF SYDNEY DOBELL.

With an Introductory Note by JOHN NICHOL, M.A., LL.D.

THE ATHENÆUM.

".....The productions of a singularly powerful and original mind. It is difficult to say whether they are of more value as a storehouse of wisdom and imagination, on which men may draw at will, or as indices to the method of thought and labour of a ripe and creative, if crotchety, intellect. We have treated the book at length, because in its way it is unique."

SUNDAY TIMES.

"Few minds of the present century have been at once so devout, so creative, and so scholarly as that of Dobell..... We despair, indeed, of giving our readers an idea of what is afforded them, and can only refer them to the book itself, which should win its way wherever wisdom is sought and philosophy and art are loved."

THE SCOTSMAN.

".....The present volume will be the most welcome memorial of a man who was not less noticeable as a subtle thinker, and an original speculator and a noble character, than as a poet. For a combination of diverse and generally incompatible excellences, Sydney Dobell was unquestionably one of the most remarkable men of modern times."

THE LIVERPOOL WEEKLY ALBION.

".....The luminous truths and literary gems to be found in abundance throughout the writings repay all the trouble of exploration."

NONCONFORMIST.

"It is, indeed, delightful to read through this volume..... We cordially recommend this most stimulating volume to our readers. Not only will they find its perusal reward all pains spent upon it by a treasury of fresh thoughts and fancies, but they will acknowledge, we are sure, that by means of it their knowledge has been deepened of a pure, elevated, and in every way beautiful human soul."

DUNDEE ADVERTISER.

"The last part of this book will be to some the most interesting of all. It lets us into the workshop of a great artist, and shews us a chef d'œuvre in its raw beginnings."

THE ENGLISH CHURCHMAN.

"A work like this may be taken up in the intervals of work, and can never be opened without giving food for deep thought. ....The speculative thoughts have this sentence for their motto: 'Like Zacharias, small of stature, I make this igdrasil of the universe the sycamore wherein I climb to see Christ.' In those words is matter for a whole cycle of Boyle or Bampton lectures."

Part IV.—Analysis of the Circle. Decimal Cyclometry.

Price, including the volume of Plates, 15s.

NOTE.—The foregoing works belonging to Natural Science are connected with those that follow, belonging to Ideal Science, by the same Author, inasmuch as they have a general purpose in common, which is, to show that the basis of sound Theology, namely, "The Revealed Truth of God," is the sound basis of all human Science, and that no secure or considerable progress can be made in the advancement of Science unless such basis be distinctly recognised and acknowledged.

WORKS BELONGING TO IDEAL SCIENCE.

By KUKLOS.

THEOLOGY AND THE SCIENCE OF GOVERNMENT.

To some extent this book may be described as a critical review of a review, namely, of the well-known review by Macaulay of Gladstone's Essay "On Church and State." The most important of the conclusions come to by the Reviewer are, together with the passages of the essay they refer to, subjected to careful examination; and, for the reasons fully stated, the doctrine of the Reviewer is rejected and that of the Essayist affirmed.
Price, in cloth, 3s. 6d.

NATURAL PHILOSOPHY AND DIVINE REVELATION.

In appearance this book is, for the most part, a critical examination of the system of the great American theologian, Theodore Parker. The system of Parker is selected, however, on general grounds, namely, as a good example (good, because of Parker's great ability and learning) of the general case where the Bible being deliberately rejected as the basis of a religious system, an endeavour is made to support the superstructure of Christian morality and civilisation upon some other foundation. Price, in cloth, 3s.; in paper, 1s. 6d.

THE SCIENCE OF IDEAL THEOLOGY AS TAUGHT BY THE BIBLE.

(Or, according to the Title-Page, THE BIBLE READ BY THE LIGHT OF IDEAL SCIENCE.)

This book, reverently dedicated to the Supreme Head of the Christian Church, purports to explain the ideal meaning of the figurative language made use of in the Scriptures, and to make manifest the harmonious and consistent plan of the Bible as a progressive record of human education, and a progressive revelation of spiritual truth to man.

Price, in cloth, 2s. 6d.; in paper, 1s. 3d.

SPIRITUAL SCIENCE AND THE NATURAL WORLD.

This communication, on the relation of Christianity to Spiritual Science, is addressed to all who feel that the explanations contained in it are acceptable and serviceable to them.

Price, in cloth, 2s. 6d.; in paper, 1s. 3d.

POLITICAL ECONOMY AS A DIVISION OF SCIENCE.

For reasons briefly, but, it is thought, sufficiently set forth, the conclusion is arrived at that the subjects belonging to this department of knowledge have not hitherto been scientifically arranged. The purpose of this book is to point out the correct method of arranging them as a division of Science. The general arrangement is merely indicated in outline, but, for illustration, a few of the sub-sections are partly filled in; and in one instance—that of the labour question—under the heading "The Nation and the Labourer," the particular sub-set is especially examined at greater length.

Price, in cloth, 3s.; in paper, 1s. 6d.

The last four of the above works may be had in paper covers, as a set, price 6s.; and the five vols. belonging to Ideal Science, in cloth, as a set, price 12s. 6d.

London: TRÜBNER & CO., Ludgate Hill.

FIFTY YEARS OF MY LIFE.

BY

GEORGE THOMAS, EARL OF ALBEMARLE.

With Portrait of the First Earl, engraved by C. H. Jeens.

QUARTERLY REVIEW.—"Chance having willed that Lord Albemarle should be successively soldier, traveller, author, courtier, politician, country gentleman, man of fashion, county member, and peer.....that he should live familiarly with a host of brilliant contemporaries, and be able in his seventy-seventh year to talk and write about them as freshly and vividly as if he were narrating the events of yesterday in his prime."

EDINBURGH REVIEW.—"This book is one of the most amusing of its class; it is written in a cheerful, good-humoured spirit; it contains a good many capital anecdotes; and it will preserve the traditions of one of the best old Whig families in England.....These reminiscences have the charm and flavour of personal experience, and they bring us into direct contact with the persons they describe."

TIMES.—"Of the whole book, we need only say that it retains its interest from first to last. Lord Albemarle is light and lively and pleasant throughout these most interesting recollections. Few men have seen so much of men and manners in so many parts of the world, and to none has it been given to relate the impressions of a busy life in so gentle and cheery a spirit. There is not a single root of bitterness in these volumes from beginning to end; and when we lay down the retrospect of fifty years we are sorry to part with so genial and generous a companion."

This day, in 2 vols. crown 8vo, with numerous Illustrations from Sketches by the Author, price 25s.

Extracts from Journals, Letters sent Home, and Notes written while Travelling Westward Round the World, from July 6, 1874, to July 6, 1875.

The Times says:—"Now we are off round the world on a vagrant tour, with a very pleasant fellow for our companion, who has eyes and ears for all that is to be seen or heard..... We commend them to the public, in the faith that they will find them very pleasant, and, into the bargain, most instructive reading."

"A work both instructive and entertaining.....Abounds in hints and suggestions on all sorts of subjects."—Academy.

NOTES OF AN INDIAN JOURNEY.

By M. E. GRANT DUFF, M.P.

With Map of Route. 8vo, 10s. 6d. [This day.]

"Nothing could be more felicitous than the diary of his flying journey. A quick and almost universally informed observer, he is interested in all he sees, and, thanks to the clearness and freshness of his daily notes, which are published as they were written, in immediate contact with the things they describe, he is able to communicate something of his own interest in them to his readers.....An instructive and most entertaining and suggestive book."—Athenaeum.

MESSRS. RIVINGTON'S NEW LIST.

LIFE OF ROBERT GRAY,

BISHOP OF CAPETOWN AND METROPOLITAN OF THE PROVINCE OF SOUTH AFRICA.

Edited by his Son, the Rev. CHARLES GRAY, M.A., Vicar of Helmsley, York.
With Portrait and Map. 2 vols. 8vo, 32s.

GUARDIAN.

"What the real man was, whom the world only saw through the distorting, disfiguring mists of controversy and strife, these memoirs, based on very ample and trustworthy materials, sufficiently show. . . . We have noticed this work at great length; but not, we venture to think, at a length that exceeds its merits and its interest. It is, in fact, more than a biography; it is a valuable addition to the history of the nineteenth century. Mr. Keble more than once described Bishop Gray's struggles as 'like a bit out of the fourth century.'"

SATURDAY REVIEW.

"It is rarely our fortune to meet with a biography which steers so clear of verbosity as the one before us. True, it is lengthy. The two volumes contain nearly twelve hundred pages; but the life which is here written is that of no ordinary man, and we do not know that we could wish a page omitted. The compiler has judiciously kept himself in the background. His own opinions are rarely given; his work has been limited to arranging the events of a stirring and devoted life, and throughout, by a felicitous selection of letters, we have the Bishop himself before us. His actions are related almost without comment, while the reasons for his actions are given in his own words."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"Readers who do not care for the squabbles of polemics may find some interest in the account of the Bishop's arduous journey through his immense dioceses with his cheerful and noble-minded wife. In the home circle, and by all the friends who sympathised with him, we can well believe that Dr. Gray was warmly loved and appreciated. It should be recorded also to his honour, that he possessed the esteem of one of the best men of his party, the Rev. John Keble."

DAILY NEWS.

"Will be an aid to the future historian when dealing with the religious problems of the present age."

HOUR.

"This biography—of the interest and fulness of which we cannot speak too highly."

STANDARD.

"We welcome it as a worthy tribute to the memory of one who possessed the true apostolic spirit, was a faithful son of the Church, and a distinguished ornament of the Episcopate."

GRAPHIC.

"Voluminous as is a biography extending, like this, over some twelve hundred closely-printed pages, few readers really interested in Church politics would wish it to be at all condensed. The life of the late Metropolitan of South Africa forms in itself a special chapter of Church History."

CHURCHMAN (New York).

"This very full account of his work, in both England and Africa, may be regarded as a most valuable contribution to modern Church History. It fills two large volumes, yet one can hardly find even a page which could have been omitted without loss."

NOTES AND QUERIES.

"Among its interesting contents is a very full account of the Colenso trial."

LITERARY CHURCHMAN.

"We hope those who found fault with him in their ignorance, as narrow, litigious, and domineering, will take the trouble to read these volumes, and understand the personal humility, forbearance, and forgiveness with which he treated his adversaries, the outcome of one of the tenderest of natures."

CHURCH TIMES.

"Not only interesting as the record of a good man's life, but extremely valuable as materials for Church history."

JOHN BULL.

"There is a fascination in these volumes which few Churchmen will be able to resist. His journeys and his troubles, his unwearied labours, whether in England or South Africa, remind one of those of the great Apostle of the Gentiles, as does his singleness of purpose, and his withstanding to the face his very dearest friends when he thought them wrong."

ROCK.

"Perhaps in the Church below, the existence and co-operation are necessary of the microscopic habit of regarding little things as important, as well as the loftier range and wider survey of those who, like St. Paul, can make the preaching of Christ, when even done in ill-will, a source of holy rejoicing. If these volumes are read in this spirit, they cannot fail to produce great good; for Bishop Gray, with all his faults, was a man of noble heart, and as in his own consciousness he lived to the Lord, so he died to Him, and his end was peace."

ENGLISH INDEPENDENT.

"Differing as we do with his theological views, we nevertheless cannot but recognise the grand simplicity of his purposes, the straightforward honourableness of his actions, the unimpeachable purity of his motives."

NONCONFORMIST.

"Bishop Gray was perhaps the most remarkable prelate that the Church of England has seen during at least the present century. Some of his letters are very beautiful, and prove the great heart of the man; but no one without such a heart could have done all his work."

EVENING POST (New York).

"The book gives a minute and vivid account of the doings and prospects of the English Church in South Africa."

CAPE MONTHLY MAGAZINE (Cape Town).

"The Bishop's journals, diaries, and general correspondence, have furnished the compiler with ample material out of which to weave a most instructive and fascinating biography."
